

Master of TESOL

Graduate Certificate in TESOL

As English is one of the world's most widely spoken languages, there is a high demand for English teachers.

A graduate qualification in Teaching English to Speakers of Other Languages (TESOL) will develop and extend your understanding of the theories and practices underpinning this field. These internationally recognised courses will also allow you to work in schools, language centres and universities around the world.

Shaping minds, shaping the world

"The course has been great. I now have a collection of very practical class activities and ways of organising the class. The cohort was a good size and we all got a chance to ask lots of questions – the lecturers are very intelligent and understanding."

Linnan (Dorothy) Zhang, Master of TESOL

Minimum entry requirements

- An undergraduate degree and a fourth-year level education qualification, or equivalent; or
- A four-year education degree, or equivalent; or
- An undergraduate degree and a Certificate in English Language Teaching to Adults (CELTA) or equivalent; or
- A four-year undergraduate degree with a significant component of English language studies, or equivalent.

In addition, Stream A applicants must be eligible for registration with the Victoria Institute of Teaching.

All students must meet English language requirements.

Outcomes

In these courses you will:

- develop specialised skills to suit varied teaching environments, including mainstream schools and language centres for adult and child migrants
- understand critical issues in TESOL research, methodology and assessment
- examine grammar and second language acquisition
- explore English teaching in an international context
- study language planning in education
- expand your knowledge of Content and Language Integrated Learning (CLIL).

The course is offered in two streams. Stream A is for Victorian Institute of Teaching (VIT) registered teachers seeking further recognition as a TESOL specialist. Qualified teachers who complete this course can work in a wide range of settings, including schools, adult migrant English programs and English language intensive courses for international students.

Stream B is for students who do not require VIT recognition for TESOL, such as those intending to teach English overseas, or qualified TESOL teachers who want to extend their professional knowledge and skills.

Academic staff

These courses are delivered by leading academics with a wealth of research and practical experience, including Professor Joseph Lo Bianco, Dr Russell Cross and Dr Julie Choi.

Delivery mode

Most subjects are delivered on-campus and supported by online resources.

Stream A students must ensure they are available for 22 days of supervised placement at a school or similar setting during school hours.
