

Master of Global Studies in Education

Take a global approach to education - with a focus on Asia.

Global processes are transforming the requirements of work and the labour market, socio-political arrangements, and cultural practices and identities. New ways of approaching education and training are now required.

In the Master of Global Studies in Education you will examine the complex ways in which the world is becoming globally interconnected and interdependent, and consider how this is affecting education policies, governance and practices. You will also explore options for responding to the global changes that affect us all.

Within the context of emerging theories on globalisation, you will study: issues of identity, culture and citizenship in transnational settings; national and global policy responses to global change; the growing influence of international organisations and agendas; the rise of international schools and qualifications; social media and shifting youth cultures; and the new requirements of curriculum, pedagogy and assessment. The course will focus in particular on education developments in the Asia-Pacific region, as a way of understanding broader global shifts in education.

GRADUATE
SCHOOLS

MELBOURNE GRADUATE
SCHOOL OF EDUCATION

Shaping minds, shaping the world

Master of Global Studies in Education - MC-GLBSTED

Duration	2 years part-time
Content	100 points of coursework comprising: <ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>• 3 x 25 point subjects</li><li>• 1 x 25 point research capstone subject</li></ul>
Minimum entry requirements	<ul style="list-style-type: none"><li>• An undergraduate degree and a fourth-year level education qualification, or equivalent, or</li><li>• A four-year education degree, or equivalent.</li></ul> All students must meet English language requirements.

Outcomes

This course will enable you to:

- develop a critical understanding of global changes and their impact on education policy and practice
- explore key theoretical debates about globalisation, citizenship and education
- acquire a range of resources for internationalising curriculum and pedagogy
- enhance your skills and capabilities to work in culturally diverse global settings
- explore recent reforms in education in the Asia-Pacific region
- develop, implement and report on a minor research project dealing with issues of international education.

Academic staff

This unique course has been developed and will be delivered by Professor Fazal Rizvi and Dr Glenn Savage. A number of high profile guest speakers will be featured during the course, including leading Melbourne Graduate School of Education academics.

Delivery mode

This course is delivered entirely online, with weekly evening webinars. Students will be drawn from around the Asia-Pacific region and will be able to participate in extensive group discussions and projects, forming a transnational learning community.

@EduMelb

/EducationMelbourne

Get in touch education.unimelb.edu.au

Authorised by Director, Learning and Teaching, Melbourne Graduate School of Education.

Publication by the Melbourne Graduate School of Education, University of Melbourne, CRICOS provide code: 00116K

The information in this publication was correct at the time of printing. The University of Melbourne reserves the right to make changes as appropriate. As details may change, you are encouraged to visit the University's website.

© Copyright University of Melbourne 2015. Copyright of this publication is owned by the University and no part of it may be reproduced without the permission of the University.

THE UNIVERSITY OF MELBOURNE

The Melbourne Graduate School of Education is Australia's number one and among the world's finest for Education* (*QS World University Rankings by Subject).